Henderson Point wreck Saturday claims three

THREE KILLED IN ACCIDENT—Only pieces of a 1969 Cutlass remain, above, in which three persons were killed Saturday morning in an accident with the 18-wheeler, below, according to Mississippi State Trooper Curtis Newman. The state trooper reported, Jeanette S. Harrington, 31, of Bay St. Louis; Earl Bankston and his brother Johnny L. Bankston, both of Gulfport were killed in the auto as it left Bayview onto US-90 and was struck by the 18-wheeler loaded with bananas. Sammy Porter, of Summett, was the driver of the truck which was also struck by a third vehicle driven by Jefferson Penton, of Waveland, after the initial impact, Newman said. Porter was taken to Hancock General Hospital for a foot injury and released with Penton being transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital after treatment at HGH, Newman added. By ELLIS CUEVAS

A Bay St. Louis woman and two Gulfport brothers were killed in an accident on US-90 at the Bayview intersection in Henderson Point early Saturday morning according to Mississippi State Trooper Curtis Newman.

Newman later that day said, "Jeanette S. Harrington, 31, 201 Sycamore St., Bay St. Louis; Earl Bankston, no age available; and his brother Johnny L. Bankston, 35, both of Gulfport were in a 1969 Cutlass which was coming out of Bayview and was struck by an 18-wheeler traveling west on the highway."

Sammy Porter of Summett was the driver of the truck which was loaded with bananas. He received an injury to a foot and was treated and released from Hancock General Hospital, Newman said.

"Seconds after the accident a vehicle driven by Jefferson Penton of Waveland ran into the truck. Bystanders were trying to flag down Penton who was also traveling west on US-90," Newman added.

The state trooper said Penton suffered facial and head injuries and was taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service and later transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

East and westbound traffic on US-90 was re-routed for some four hours while N.A. Pernicaro and Son Wrecker Service of Bay St. Louis and Favre's Wrecker Service of Pass Christian removed the wrecked vehicles.

Newman said he was assisted in traffic control by Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian City Police and Pass Christian also had a rescue unit at the scene.

Ed Little, Harrison County coroner, held an inquest at the scene attributing the deaths as being caused by the accident, Newman allowed.

Newman stated, "The Cutlass was apparently the vehicle which caused the accident. No citations have been issued, but an investigation continues in the three vehicle pileup."

The victims car came to rest under the axles of the 18-wheeler which was on its side for the accident which occurred with good weather conditions at 1:54 a.m., according to the state trooper.

Federal agency questions Hancock engineer's fees

By JUNE M. HEYDT

The Department of Commerce in Washington D.C. will rule on what portion of a bill paid to Broadway and Seal engineers by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors from a federal grant must be paid back.

A federal audit has questioned the amount paid because of work done prior to the date the award was granted in September 1981.

Broadway and Seal received $21,000 for engineering fees for renovation of portions of Beach Boulevard.

The U.S. Coastal Energy Impact Program grant, administered by the Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources and issued by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, paid $16,000 of the bill which represents 80 percent of the total price.

"The problem," said Gordon Larson, CEIP director for the Bureau of Marine Resources, "is that the grant will not pay for work done prior to the date it was awarded. The question is how much, if any, of the work was done prior to that date."

Larson said, "Larry Seal of B&S Engineers said that to the best of his knowledge 10 percent of the work was done prior to the grant date."

"If that is the case then 10 percent of $16,000 will be disallowed and will have to be paid back," said Larson.

"The problem however, is compounded by virtue of the fact that Larry Seal hasn't kept copies on file of work he's done in the past. Seal did not keep copies of old plans, it's going to make solving this problem more difficult," said Larson.

A. A. Kellar, board president, said, "There were two or three different plans on the renovation. Seal only used the cover sheets, all the rest had to be drawn up new."

"The county would be the ones who will lose," said Kellar if any money has to be refunded. Because, Kellar said, "We already authorized payment of the bill."

According to the cover sheets said Kellar, "Quantities and everything else had to be changed."

"Hopefully they will authorize it. I felt real good after talking to the auditor, and explaining the matter," said Kellar.

Spillway opening eyed

Officials say fish kill study not needed yet

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

State and federal agency officials feel an untimely fish kill of undetermined origin effecting saltwater fish and mammals along the Mississippi Gulf Coast does not yet warrant extensive study.

Those officials also do not know how the opening of almost half of the Bonnet Carré Spillway upstream from New Orleans on the Mississippi River, which results in silty freshwater moving into the Mississippi Sound, will affect aquatic life in this area.

But Dr. Moby Solangi, curator of Marine Life in Gulfport, Friday offered what he feels is a 'logical explanation' for deteriorated carcasses of sheephead, black and red drum, saltwater catfish, sea turtles and dolphins washing ashore along the coast.

He reported his examination of the carcasses indicate fish gills are becoming clogged with 'suspended matter' in the Sound.

Solangi explained that fresh water, brought by recent heavy rains and diluting the salinity of the sound, suspends silt and pollutants which normally settle to the waterbottoms when the water contains more salt.

He said the combined water pollution, resulting from farm fertilizers and insecticides and industrial effluents washing into the Sound, is causing 'a stressful environment' for all marine life.

But Dr. Richard Leard of the State Bureau of Marine Resources in Long Beach said Friday, due to the type and decayed condition of carcasses washing ashore, the kill occurred somewhere outside Mississippi waters.

He feels other more delicate fish, such as flounder and manhaden, would wash ashore first if the kill occurred in the Sound.

Leard said the BMR does not know what caused the marine deaths and would not attempt to determine the cause unless the aquatic mortality rate increases or continues at its present rate for an extended period of time.

James Warren, a fisheries biologist of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs, Friday agreed with Leard, but listed the fresh water influx

Idlewood homeowners applaud re-zoning denial

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Idlewood residents responded to the Waveland Aldermen's motion to deny a request for rezoning property adjacent to their subdivision with resounding hand clapping.

A petition from the Idlewood Subdivision property owners protesting the rezoning from R-1 (residential) to R-3 (commercial) was read to the board of aldermen by Barbara Rappold, city clerk, zoning official, and an alderman, at the start of their regular meeting Wednesday night.

The petition stated reasons why the property owners protested the rezoning of the land immediately south of the subdivision.

The reasons were: —The developers did not provide comprehensive plans sufficient enough to ensure community standards.

—There was no data submitted which indicated community needs warrant or demand the zoning change.

—The subdivision has been platted as Idlewood II, single family dwellings. Idlewood Subdivision is protected under covenants, which restrict housing to R-1 zoning.

—The high concentration of people in the proposed townhouses would disrupt the residential quality of life in Idlewood and surrounding area.

—The property drainage, future requirements of access roads, and noise level increases were not considered.

The vote to deny the rezoning change was unanimous. There was no further discussion.

Mayor John Longo addressed the residents, saying, "It was a very difficult thing with the undercurrent evident. I am very proud of the decision of the aldermen. There were threats made...and even with all that, the aldermen looked into it and, in fact, upheld the findings of the zoning board."

Architects offer first report to committee

By ELLIS CUEVAS

An in depth study of Hancock County Jail population in recent years combined with anticipated growth has caused architects to recommend a 50-bed facility and also several holding tanks.

This report was given to a special 35-member jail committee selected by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, the sheriff's office and two police departments.

Fred Wagner, local architect, and Nathaniel Curtis, a Professional Architect Corp. of New Orleans were hired by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to do a feasibility study upon recommendation of the jail committee.

A new jail facility for Hancock County has been recommended by numerous Grand Juries to replace the currently used facility constructed in the mid-30's.

The Hancock Jail, was for 15 inmates, and in recent months has reached a population of 50 one time, and ranging in the low 40's for several days.

Wagner said, "The first step was to do a little background work in order to get a handle on the size of a facility needed. Our next step will be to develop the support services such as booking offices, visiting areas, food service and storage areas."

Judy Filippich, consultant city planner with Nathaniel Curtis stated, "In studying the profile and character of the county and jail, by the year of 2000, Hancock should double in its population. This could lead to an increase in crime, and also there is a need for facilities for both males and females."

In 1982, a total of 1,623 persons were lodged in the facility. Males accounted for 1,412 and females 211.

During the meeting a comment was made about a new jail in Pearl River County sitting idle and not in use because of a lack of funds for staffing, brought this reply from Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson, "The reason the facility is not used is because of its size. The jail constructed had fewer cells than the one used by the Pearl River County sheriff, and that is the reason it is not being used."

Jeffrey Taylor of Gulf Regional Planning Commission, who is working with the county on the jail studies, replied the number of misdemeanors and felonies by persons arrested in Hancock was about the same percentages as in other areas, when asked by Walter Gex, board of supervisor attorney.

Wagner said one thing which had to be considered by the committee, was the new state law, effective July 1, that mandates 24-hour jail sentences for persons convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Wagner indicated this was a preliminary study, and that the exact number of beds was to come later.

When questioned on location Wagner said, "The two locations now being considered, is the present jail site and some property across the street from the jail. You know how it would be if another site is selected, as persons living in the area would not like a jail near them. If another site is necessary, it will then be considered."

Fritz Suchke, architect with Nathaniel Curtis, indicated the information needed for the next committee meeting should be ready in about two weeks.

HGH census averages 42 in April

By ELLIS CUEVAS

In a report given to the trustees of Hancock General Hospital by Mike Dossett, comptroller, the April census was 42 patients per day compared to 34 for the same period in 1982.

The year-to-date was given as 37 patients per day with 1982's listed as 35. Dossett said, "Profit for April was $26,000, with a year-to-date profit of $178,000."

The fiscal year of HGH begins on Oct. 1.

A lengthy discussion was held on the subject of sick leave for employees of the hospital.

Phil Langston, administrator stated, "We are now in the process of preparing next year's budget and would like the trustees feelings on the sick leave policy currently being followed."

Employees are entitled to 12 days a year of sick leave and can carry over seven days per year and if the other five are not used a cash bonus is given the employee at Christmas, Langston reported.

The seven days from each year can build in case an employee has a lengthy illness in the coming years.

The trustees indicated there should not be any change in the sick leave policy since it was just changed last year.

Trustees also gave approval of Medical Staff Credentials recommendations for allied health to Annette Walker, R.N., Carol Reiben, R.N., Michelle M. Varnell, L.P.N., and Beverly H. Avery, L.P.N.

Correction

Edward A. Soffra, 24, of Bay St. Louis, was sentenced last week in Hancock County Circuit Court to 10 years on a robbery charge and five years on a burglary charge, sentences to run consecutively.

A report from the court which appeared in the Thursday edition of The Sea Coast Echo erroneously indicated Soffra was sentenced on three charges.

Record number take PRC degrees, certificates

Pearl River College graduated its largest class in history here Sunday as 457 students received associate degrees or certificates of proficiency.

The formal service was the 73rd annual commencement for Pearl River College and it officially marked the end of the 1982-83 school year for the pioneer junior college.

Miriam Quinn Simmons of Columbia, a member of the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning, told the PRC graduates in her address that the "No deposit. No return" attitude of Mississippians may be what has led us into mediocrity in the state's educational system.

"We have kept silent too long," Simmons said. "It's time to speak up. If we are going to get our state off the bottom, then we are going to have to be hard nose. We must teach writing and correct English. Our students must learn the basics in order to carry them through life."

The Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning, of which Mrs. Simmons has been a member since 1972, has adopted new entrance guidelines for the year 1986. "It's up to you and me to see to it that the education reform bill will work."

Simmons said Mississippi has many natural resources but the "minds of our youth" are the most important natural resource of the state. "Pearl River College has given you the foundation," Simmons said. "Now it is up to you to do what you want to do. You must continue to grow...it's not time to stop."

Mrs. Simmons encouraged the PRC graduates to deposit something back into the educational system here in Mississippi. "With no deposit, we'll get no return," Simmons said.

The 1983 Pearl River graduating class is up 73 students from last spring and is 57 students higher than the previous 1981 record of 400 graduates. In 1980, 392 students graduated from PRC, 384 in 1979 and 340 in 1978. Ten years ago, 248 students graduated from Pearl River College.

Two hundred-nineteen students received associate degrees in arts and applied science and 238 students received certificates of proficiency.

Enoch Seal Jr., dean of academic affairs, presented the associate degree graduates and Dr. James Sones, dean of vocational technical affairs, presented the career graduates. President Marvin R. White presented all diplomas and certificates.

Father Henry McInerney, of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church of Bay St. Louis, gave the invocation and Mr. Fred Henley, superintendent of the Picayune Municipal Separate School District, gave the benediction.

Pearl River College Board of Trustees officers and many of the Board members attended the graduation along with numerous state representatives and senators.

This was the third year the PRC faculty members have worn gowns and participated formally in the commencement.

RECORD NURSING CLASS—Fifty-four students were pinned during a formal pinning service at Pearl River College Friday night. The nursing graduates were part of the largest class to ever finish the 17-year-old PRC course. A large number of family and friends were on hand to watch the group receive their pins and lamps.

Preparations are underway for a Benefit Spaghetti Supper sponsored by Boy Scout Troop 208 to be held on Friday, June 3.

As many of you know, Boy Scout Troop 208 has been chartered for over 60 years and is one of the older troops in our area.

The event will be held at the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139's home on Blue Meadow Road from 5 to 8 p.m.

The proceeds will be used for some of the summer activities of the scouts.

Tickets are for a donation of $3 each and can be purchased from a troop member or at the door.

Congratulations are in order for Suzanne Thomas for being recently named Bay St. Louis' Miss Hospitality.

We know her parents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas are very proud of her being selected as Miss Hospitality, and we are also elated on her being selected to represent Bay St. Louis.

We do want also to extend congratulations to the many other candidates in the contest, and also to persons like Janet Aime who worked so hard to get the contest together. We know there were others who helped too.

Ms. Thomas' first official function as Miss Hospitality will be on June 3 to welcome visitors at the Mississippi Hospitality Station and we hope to see her there.

We will also be pulling for her on July 30 when she will be competing for the State Miss Hospitality crown at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum.

Next Saturday, the Hancock County Art League will hold a 'Blooming Art Sale' on the grounds of the public library in Bay St. Louis.

The sale will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will involve the works of art of over 30 ladies in the area.

As many of you know, the local artists have been displaying their creative works at various places in recent years.

Carl Baldenhoffer, art instructor says this will be the largest art sale to his knowledge in Hancock County.

If you have never seen any of the works of these local artists, we suggest a visit, as takers will be invited.

It always amazes us at the many talents available in Hancock County.

August 2 is fast approaching and election fever is beginning to pick up somewhat in Hancock County.

The deadline for filing in the August Primaries is only a few days away, so we feel many will be making their announcements soon.

We have had several visitors on the state level in Hancock County in recent days and probably more will be stopping by during the next two months.

We know there are many local potential candidates who are not really sure just as to what district they reside in with the redistricting plan needing approval by the Justice Department.

There is hope that an answer will be rendered very soon, as there has been a lot of discussion, and confusion on the matter.

We have seen several local candidates about visiting door-to-door, so they are taking the election serious.

We hear citizens all the time complaining about this office holder not doing this or that and all it amounts to is a lot of talk.

We wish all candidates and others who will announce later good luck in their bids for office, they are trying to change things.

We realize all cannot be winners, but then too, they are the ones who are trying to do something about things which they feel may not be done correctly.

JAIL REPORT GIVEN TO COMMITTEE—Fred Wagner, center, architect, presents a four-year study on persons being housed in the Hancock County jail to members of the Hancock Jail committee as part of a feasibility study at a recent meeting. Among those making the presentation included from left, Judy Filippich, consultant city planner for Nathaniel Curtis, Architect; Wagner; and Jeffery Taylor, representative of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission. Wagner and Nathaniel Curtis, architects were hired by the Hancock County board of supervisors to do a feasibility study for a new jail. The current facility erected in 1936 for 15 inmates has housed as many as 50 persons in recent months. A 35-member jail committee selected by the various governmental agencies upon recommendation of the supervisors are studying the possibility of a new jail in the county. There is no question of the need of a new jail, and we are glad the issue is being given consideration by our supervisors. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Need for teacher support group suggested

May 14, 1983

Dear Editor

Re: "Dissatisfied Bay teachers advised to leave area or state".

I was appalled at the above articles and others that have been in the papers recently regarding this subject.

The future of our country depends upon the youth and upon their education. It should be our utmost desire to give them the best basic foundation possible!

To do so, obviously, we must do our best to recruit and support the very best teachers!

Walter Turcotte's statements are so far out of line that I find it difficult to believe that he is the president of the Bay St. Louis School District Board of Trustees.

I wish to support an increase in pay for our teachers. If there is any way I can be of assistance in developing a support group, please contact me.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Freda Torbit

Dear Sir,

I'm so glad you mentioned the debris along Dunbar.

I pass there every day and I feel like getting out and picking up some trash. Children sometimes are thoughtless, so I suggest putting a trash can along there — maybe that would help.

Information on library's Rare Book Room artifact elicited by newspaper article

Dear Sir:

I owe you and your reporter, June Heydt a debt of gratitude.

The article appearing in Sunday, May 1 issue of The Sea Coast Echo on page one and entitled "Library Welcomes Two Distinguished Guests" really brought many valuable responses.

The Rare Book Room of our Library was seeking information about Mrs. W. W. Stockstill whose memorial plaque needed additional historical information.

Mrs. C. C. McDonald received some welcomed information, and my own telephone was busy Sunday afternoon when kind and cooperative people called to say that Mrs. Stockstill was, prior to her marriage, Lena Driver.

In addition to teaching in the Taylor School for a number of years, she was pianist for the Order of Eastern Star, a leader and musical director for the Bay St. Louis Baptist Church, and very active in community affairs.

We wish to extend our thanks to all who called and to the Echo for publicizing our need for information.

It's good to live in Hancock County — good to know so many friendly, caring and cooperative people.

Cordially,
Joe Pilet, Coordinator

Senator Thad Cochran SPECIAL REPORT: 55-MPH Reform

I have introduced a bill in the U.S. Senate to repeal the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit imposed by the federal government several years ago in the aftermath of the Arab oil embargo.

My bill would restore to the individual states the authority to establish speed limits on interstate highways and state roads, consistent with highway and road conditions and safety needs of individual areas.

This would allow Mississippi, for example, to increase speed limits on interstate highways to a more reasonable level, and also allow the state, through the legislature and the highway department, to modify speed limits on other roads within our borders.

I think everyone agrees that it is not realistic to limit traffic, on interstate highways in particular, to 55-miles-an-hour. And, on many other roads slightly higher speeds could be allowed, in my opinion, without seriously impairing the safety of the traveling public. Please notice that I am not advocating that all speed limits be raised to 70 miles an hour on all roads, only on those interstate highways and road stretches deemed safe for such speeds by highway safety officials and state authorities who are fully competent to decide such matters.

There are some particularly dangerous roads and highways in Mississippi, and every other state, where even 55-miles-an-hour is not safe speed. Obviously, the appropriate state officials can, and should, modify downward the legal speeds on those roads.

One of the arguments made for construction of the interstate system in the first place was that it would allow for safe travel at a reasonably high rate of speed, up to 70 miles an hour in most places.

The extra costs imposed by lowering the speed limit on interstates is estimated by some studies to be as high as $6 billion, based on travel hours, multiplied by the value of time involved.

Now that energy supplies have increased, and energy conservation efforts have improved, I believe the federal government should return to state legislatures and highway departments the right to determine their own speed limit laws relevant to individual needs and circumstances.

Certainly, the variety and diversity of our country justifies allowing each state the right to determine its own appropriate speed limits.

In my view, the states are a much better judge of this issue than Congress, in terms of safety, the convenience of the traveling public, the geography of a particular area, and the condition of their respective roads and highways.

I don't think the facts, as they exist today, justify continuing the 55-mile-an-hour limit on most major four-lane roads and interstates.

This federal driving restriction should be repealed.

The People's Business

BUDGET SURPLUS

The latest word on the federal deficit from Washington is that this year's budget deficit could reach a record $210.2 billion, an amount that far exceeds projections.

It is likely that the national debt is a subject that doesn't command the attention of rank-and-file Americans. We hear about the deficit from time to time, especially when it reaches new heights. When was the last time you heard of a record federal government budget surplus?

There is only one real way to reduce the federal debt. That is for the government to take in more money than it spends. This is not an easy task for the Congress. There is political patronage and there are constituencies to serve.

Notwithstanding these barriers, it is up to Congress to tackle this growing problem. The Mississippi Economic Council recommends a six-point program aimed at establishing better controls on government expenditures. They include:

—More realistic cost estimates of programs in the budget development process.

—Require that all prospective expenditures be accompanied with accurate cost projections for at least five years, if not the life of the project.

—Better staffing of appropriations and related committees so that the cost of existing and proposed programs are more clearly defined.

—Annual independent examination by Congress of all permanent authorizations and appropriations.

—Review of the federal government's cost accounting system.

—Review of the federal government's procurement system.

"WAIT, GOOD NEWS!! THE MARKET'S FALLIN'!"

16th Section landholders slate meeting

By JUNE M. HEYDT
The Mississippi 16th Section Landholders Association, Inc. is meeting Monday night at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis for persons with legitimate deeds to 16th section land.

Billy H. Taylor, president of the association and a resident of Simpson County, says, "There are deeds and titles for these lands that date back as far as 1850 that were signed by the president of the United States who at that time was James Buchanan."

Taylor said, "There are 700,000 acres of 16th section land and 50,000 acres have been sold. There are 36 sections in a township and the 16th section land was designated public land. The state gave the towns the right to collect taxes from 16th section land and to use these revenues for the upkeep of the town schools."

"The county sheriffs had control of this land first, then control went to the supervisors and in 1978 control was given to the county school boards," he said.

"The problem is that the school boards assume that all the land belongs to them," Taylor reported.

"Gov. Hugh White actually sold land to people and gave them 'simple title deeds,'" said Taylor. "A fee simple title guarantees that you own everything, mineral rights and timber rights included."

Sixteen section land was also sold around the time of the carpet baggers. 40 acres of land and a mule would be purchased."

"There are bonafide deeds some of them dated in the 1930s and 40s," he reported.

"Some people who bought 16th section land also bought adjoining 17th section land at the same time. These people were given deeds to both parcels of land," Taylor said.

"There are deed holders whose families have been on these lands for 100 to 150 years," said Taylor. He added, "My father lived on the land I own now and his father before him."

Taylor said, "Our organization is gathering people together from across the state who own 16th section land and bringing them into our association so we can have a voice be it legal or legislative."

"Legally we will file suit against the state. Legislatively we will be ethical about it without dragging it into court," said Taylor.

"In 1978 when the legislature passed a law giving control of these lands to the county school boards they would not recognize these deeds."

The school boards wrote letters to the owners telling them that they had to take leases out on the land," said Taylor. "The boards told the leasees that they didn't have any mineral rights and that they could not cut down any trees on the land."

"The people who own this land bought and paid a fair market value for it," Taylor added.

Taylor said, "In 1932 a man in Yazoo City bought 122 acres and paid 25 cents an acre. He is now 78-years-old and raised 11 children on that land. The Yazoo school board said they wouldn't recognize his deed and said he had to take a lease. He wouldn't do it so they leased it to someone else for $1,000 a year. His son in order to get the land back had to double the bid and is now paying $2,000 a year to get the property back into the family."

"The state of Mississippi is not getting one nickel from this property. The counties are getting the revenues. The school boards are charging us about five percent of value of an acre of land in the form of a lease and still we don't have title to the mineral rights and we can't cut trees," Taylor said.

"The school board has the option to cancel or raise a lease every five years."

"We plan to hire six of the best law firms in the country to represent us and offer them 25 percent of the mineral rights to represent us," said Taylor.

"We are going to bring in the heavy artillery," Taylor said adding, "You start taking a man's home away from him and you get him killed up. It's been an injustice done to us."

"Any good attorney should be able to go into a court of law and give us satisfaction. We paid taxes on this property for 100 years, built homes, drained ditches, worked it foot by foot. A leasee usually doesn't pay taxes on property," Taylor added.

Terrel Randolph, superintendent of the Hancock County School Board said, "If the 16th section land was sold, it was an illegal act."

"This land belongs to the school children of the state and its held in trust by the school boards. Since the children are not capable of managing the land the school board is put in the position of managing this land in the best interest of the children," said Randolph.

"The 16th section land was originally set up in 1787. Landowners set up this land as a governing township. The concept was created by the landowners and provided that the land would be set aside for the benefit and support of schools and school children," he said.

"It has been abused by the politicians at the state and local level for the past 200 years," said Randolph.

"It wasn't until 1978 that the state legislature decided that they were tired of these abuses and set into motion a new law that would correct these past practices. Hopefully these laws will be carried out by the state and school boards that will be an asset financially to all school districts," Randolph said.

I think the school boards would manage this land with greater interest than if it was their own because of their positions as public servants to the children's tax paying parents. They should be held accountable to the children and their parents for better management of the land," said Randolph.

"Over a million dollars in oil leases has been earned in the past five years from 16th section land. This money goes to the schools," said Randolph.

Thomas Brodnax, a supervisor in Jackson County and a former member of the school board said, "I think section 16th section land is one of the greatest assets the schools have. This land was set aside by our forefathers who had enough insight to see the needs of the future."

"I will fight this organization 100 percent tooth and nail," said Brodnax.

in their decision not to change Idlewood to anything other than residential."

In other business, Robert Mosley of Jackson, traffic engineer for the State Highway Department, reported results of a recent traffic flow study at the intersection of US-90 and Hwy. 603-43.

Mosley said he did not recommend adding signals at this time because the volume of traffic on these roads does not warrant additions.

He stated, "One prime reason is the fact that signalized streets are a by-product of rear-end collisions and right-angle collisions."

In regard to the left-turn signals, Mosley said, "With green time taken away from Highway 90 this also increases the potential for rear-end collisions."

Mosley added, "Anytime you put in a left-hand signal you have to have a lane. We're not at the volume now to have to get to that point."

Longo said, "I can appreciate what you're saying but, the point is I feel quite sure that the volume will increase because our summer population doubles. Also we have to consider the traffic that will be coming through here for the World's Fair. I don't think we should wait for the 11th hour. We certainly will never see a 'drop' in traffic."

Mosley responded, "The volume increase will be on US-90, not Hwy. 43. We would only be hurting the high-volume traffic on 90 by putting a turn signal on route 43."

Mosley also added, "You have a good accident history over here. Compared to Gulfport it is really good. In Gulfport at Courthouse Road and Cowen Road they average 40 to 45 accidents a year."

"Let's keep it under our thumb and when the time is right we will study it again," Mosley concluded.

Concerning beach maintenance problems, Longo said, "The problem is that we don't have a state maintenance program that we can go under. We need to take steps to establish one. A stitch in time may save nine."

Lucien Gex, board attorney, said he would look into the matter.

Rappold noted a Quality Home Health Care, Inc. program has been established in Bay St. Louis. This program is under the direction of the State Board of Health, she said.

Fifteen million SS dollars paid in Hancock annually

Hancock County residents receive nearly $15 million per year in Social Security payments, according to William Gladden, Social Security administrator for the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

According to Gladden, payments to retired and disabled persons and surviving family members of deceased workers total $1.23 million per month.

Hancock County ranks 32nd of 82 Mississippi counties in terms of the dollar amount of payments made, according to Gladden. He went on to say that there are 3,700 persons in Hancock County who receive social security payments. This works out to about one Hancock resident in seven who receives a social security check.

"It is important to note," says Gladden, "that entitlement to Social Security payment is a right which workers earn by paying taxes into the Social Security trust funds while they are employed."

"Most social security business can be handled by phone," said Gladden. "We have a toll free number, 866-2900, which Hancock County residents can use to obtain information or to handle almost all of their social security business."

Representatives of the district office in Gulfport are available to discuss SS and SSI problems with Hancock County residents Thursday mornings from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the Russell Youth Court Building, Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Tickets are $3 at the door. A whacky melodramatic mystery, the play is studded with even whackier characters.

In a "takeoff" on Tennessee Williams and Gone With The Wind, director John Helmers has his wierdos going through their paces.

"Murder in the Magnolias" is set in a decaying Southern plantation which, like its inhabitants, has gone to seed.

Director John Helmers is fortunate to have a strong cast. Most notable among them are Dottie Overal, in the female lead of Amanda Chickenwing.

This transplanted Yankee just drips Southern gentility. One of her scenes where she dances with imaginary swains from her distant past is most poignant.

Another standout is Edith Bierhorst Back as the slovenly housekeeper, Jezebel. She'll have you howling with her anything-but-genteel performance!

Barbara Jo Fitch is mesmerizing with her cat-like performance in the small but potent role of a spooky Voodoo Woman.

Another small but juicy part is Lawyer Possum (reminiscent of Boss Hogg), which is handled superbly by the veteran actor Ted Stechmann. This reviewer wishes his character played a larger part in the story, since it is done so convincingly well.

The whackiest character is Thornbird Chickenwing III, played to a "T" by Terry Simpson. Rather than give away any of the plot here, you are urged to see it to believe it! He is an absolute delight.

His nemesis, Bubba Kamrowski, is played by the irrepressible Walter Vaughn, who has yet to deliver anything but the best in whatever role he tackles.

To save the best for the last of near-perfect performances, Ed Scanlon, Jr. is a SMASH! From the moment he enters, Sheriff Billy Jack takes command of the stage, and handles this stereotypical role of the big bad guy with gusto. He obviously relishes the part, and so will you: no doubt about it.

In supporting roles, Margo Frommeyer just drips ham (and all its fixin's) as the has-been starlet Princess Lotta Kargo; Jeannie Ziegler is alone in this madness as her sane secretary, Lorraine Caruthers; Pam Baumgartner gives a fine performance as a slightly-cracked southern belle; Ed Ling appears in the Prologue as Colonel Rance Chickenwing (it is his character that the whacky plot unravels around); and Lottie Eden, in his first performance on the Players' stage, does a good job as another sane soul in a sea of wierdos; Pete Bogg, a state engineer dedicated to flood control.

The outstanding set was designed and built by Art Director Ed Scanlon, Jr. Other members of the crew are Ed Ling - producer; Joy Marzoni-stage manager-properties and prompter; Dick Fitch-sound; Ed Ling and Ed Scanlon, Jr.-program; Edith Bierhorst Back-publicity; Edward Scanlon, Jr., Nan Bradley, and Lori Garside-Makeup; Derek Stechmann-Lights; Daren Stechmann-Spotlight; and Lori Garside-tickets.

Childhood cancer patient survival rate increases

NEW ORLEANS—The survival rate for childhood cancer patients, which has been steadily improving in recent years, will continue to improve, says Dr. Marshall A. Schorin who recently joined the Ochsner Clinic staff as pediatric oncologist.

The hopeful outlook is due principally to two factors. Children develop different kinds of cancer than adults and "we are on the verge of understanding what causes some leukemias, or cancer of the blood cells, the most prevalent kind of cancer among the young," he stresses.

"The different types of leukemias, which number some 2,500 new cases a year, make up the largest groups of childhood cancers which occur in the United States. Because these kinds of cancers manifest themselves earlier, and because children are observed more closely and at more frequent intervals by doctors than adults, they now stand a better than two-third chance of being 'cured.' Although doctors don't like to use the term 'cured' with regard to cancer, in children it is possible to talk of cure before the five-year survival rate usually used for adults."

Yet another reason for the optimistic outlook is that most childhood cancer patients are referred early on to medical centers where specialists use the very latest tests and procedures which may yield significant information about the patient's diagnosis.

"It may not be necessary for all the care to be given at the medical center but the cooperation of the specialist with the referring physician has significantly affected the outlook on childhood cancers," he says.

Dr. Schorin came to Ochsner after serving as a research fellow in pediatrics at the Harvard Medical School, the Sidney Farber Cancer Institute and Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston, Mass. He received his MD degree from the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine in 1975. In 1977 he received the Rose Meadow Levinson Prize for Research in Cancer and Related Fields at the University of Pennsylvania. He has also served as resident and chief resident at the Strong Memorial Hospital of the University of Rochester, N.Y.

ETV Brief

DAYTIME TV

A special week of daytime programming, featuring Mississippi ETV-produced programs, will be presented on the state network May 30-June 3.

ETV's usual in-school schedule concludes on Friday, May 27, and prior to this year's "Summer Video" schedule, which begins Monday, June 6, ETV will treat its viewers to a week of "home-grown" programming.

At 10 a.m., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, ETV will air four puppet specials, and on Wednesday, one of ETV's most recent documentaries, "Shell Ridge and Miss Judy," will be telecast. This half-hour film examines life aboard two Gulf Coast shrimp boats.

At 10:30 a.m. on Monday, the musical comedy "Beans" is scheduled. Two Mississippi Gulf Coast artists are in the spotlight at 10:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. on Tuesday: "The Islander" featuring Walter Anderson and "Dusti Bonge, The Life of an Artist," respectively. The guitar stylizations of Skeets McWilliams resound on "Skeets" at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday. Television experts debate the pros and cons of the effects of television on children on "Growing Up with Television" at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday, followed by a half-hour of music on "Madrigals of Love and War" at 11 a.m. On Friday at 11 a.m., the people of Natchez tell the history of their town on "Natchez."

At noon and also at 2:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, selected programs from Mississippi ETV's "Mississippi Roads" series will air.

At 12:30 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday, Edward Asner narrates two specials on important Jewish holidays: "Passover" and "Hanukkah," respectively. At 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday, friends and relatives remember William Faulkner: "A Life on Paper," narrated by Raymond Burr. At 12:30 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, two more "Mississippi Roads" programs will air.

At 1 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday, ETV pays tribute to the blues with "Land Where the Blues Began" and "Mississippi Delta Blues." At 1 p.m. on Thursday, William Grant Still's haunting opera of the occult, "A Bayou Legend," is telecast, and at 1 p.m. on Friday, "A Country Bluegrass Jamboree" showcases a musical celebration in Lauderdale.

At 2 p.m. on Monday, eerie tales of things unexplained are told on "Mississippi Ghost Tales." At 2 p.m. on Tuesday Dr. Tom Meredith of the College Board explains new college entrance requirements in Mississippi. And at 2 p.m. on Friday, another selection from ETV's "Mississippi Roads" series will air.

During the rest of the broadcast week's daytime schedule, the usual fare can be seen: "A.M. Weather," "Sesame Street," "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood," "The Electric Company," plus a series on the history of the space program, "History of Space Travel," which can be seen at 7 and 7:30 a.m. and also at 3 and 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. "A.M. Weather" can be seen at 6:45 a.m.; "Sesame Street" at 8 a.m. and at 4:30 p.m.; "Mister Rogers" at 9 a.m. and at 4 p.m.; and "The Electric Company" at 9:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., all Monday through Friday.

Final Story Hour slated

Pre-school children and their parents are invited to attend story hour Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis Library.

Story hour will not be held during the months of June and July because of the summer reading program. All interested children from those entering the first grade on are invited to join the summer program at the Bay St. Louis, Waveland or Kiln Library.

This week story hour begins with "I'm Too Small, You're Too Big" by Judi Barrett.

The finger play "Pairs" will be performed between stories. The second book to be read will be "A Bag Full of Pups" by Dick Gackenbach.

Story hour will conclude with the filmstrip "The Bear Scouts."

Bureau accepting comments regarding Bay pier project

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

State Bureau of Marine Resources officials in Long Beach are accepting written comments until 5 p.m. June 3 regarding proposed work at the end of American Legion Post No. 139's riprap jetty in Bay St. Louis.

Dr. Richard Leard, BMR director, offered that report at the end of a Wednesday night public hearing at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis in which about 50 attended and many of those voiced approval or disapproval of the proposed pier project.

Leard said Friday that BMR officials should offer a recommendation regarding the proposal to the State Wildlife Conservation Commission for consideration at its yet to be scheduled June meeting in Jackson.

The commission must decide if the State Department of Wildlife Conservation should issue a permit for the pier work based on the BMR recommendation.

A U.S. Army Corps of Engineers permit must also be obtained by the Legion before the work begins.

The public pier extends into the Mississippi Sound from the intersection of South Beach Boulevard and Washington Street.

At the public hearing, attorney Henry Laird of Gulfport reported several Bay St. Louis residents filed a lawsuit in Aug. 1977.

In a Friday interview, Laird said the legion, City of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County Board of Supervisors are defendants in the suit which charges the riprap jetty results in infringement of littoral rights (a beachfront owner's right to extend a pier up to 750 yards seaward), restricted tidal flow and noise pollution.

The attorney said he has requested the case be heard in Chancery Court sometime in October.

He explained the property owners seek no monetary gain except payment of court costs.

"We want the pier torn down where it's on private property, an injunction to stop it from growing, cleaned up and the shoreline restored. Also, a large amount of the pile needs to be destroyed to allow proper water flow," the attorney stated.

Plaintiffs include Gregory Ames, Mrs. Waldo Otis, Elizabeth Sullivan, James T. Swoop, Julian Swoop Hillery, Margaret Hillery Villers, Andrew F. Hillery Jr. and Isabell Hillery Cobb, all of Bay St. Louis, Laird reported.

At the public hearing, Henry Prevou, Legion Pier Committee co-chairman, explained the project will improve the recreational pier by maintenance dredging two shallow channels to provide water access to boat ramps, building a dock facility to alleviate congestion resulting from unloading activities at the ramps, adding an "emergency ramp" at the east end of the pier and replacing a deteriorating ramp on the south end with a two-lane concrete ramp facility.

Robert Boudin, Hancock County Civil Defense director, said the emergency ramp was needed to provide the county department quick access when westerly winds prevent launching at the south ramp.

Stan Nelson stated, "I do a lot of fishing on the pier. Access is needed by the public."

Russell Elliott reported, "The legion and those assisting them have labored free of charge for 25 years to improve the pier."

Elliott disagreed with the objectors and stated, "They're in an ivory tower and I object to their selfish motive by attempting to prevent use of this facility."

Bill Moran, legion post commander, said, "There are always four or five people who object to progress in the city whether it be hotels or shopping centers."

Jan L. Dorion reported he did not understand why the residents object to the project.

Margaret (Peggy) Gibbens charged the pier has caused water pollution by stagnation which has brought an accumulation of muck near the shoreline at the facility.

"I've gotten stuck in the mud up to my knees near the rock pile. There's no free flow of water," she stated.

Sam Perniciaro, Hancock District Four supervisor, acknowledged a his dragline crew was stopped recently from dredging an access channel to the pier after BMR officials discovered the legion had no permit for the work.

"It's a shame you can't little, said from under the tide..." he stated.

Janie Languirand charged the pier might have contributed to erosion which destroyed "a beautiful beach" which formerly fronted nearby St. Stanislaus High School.

Clement Rondeau said the proposed dredging, with spoils to be placed on top of the jetty end, "will create a stench all over town" and "the water will be unfit to swim in."

Gertrude Stanton charged the legion was once ordered to install two culverts in the pier to allow a some sort of water flow and these have since been covered with debris.

Perniciaro reported his crews have cleaned out one of the culverts, but did not find another.

Louise Wilkinson said if the pier is a public facility the legion should legally pledge to keep the jetty open to the public forever.

Irwin Cucullu reported he does not object to "little" improvements, but opposes projects which cause the facility to constantly grow.

Julia Blaize stated, "In my opinion, it sounds like (the pier work proposal) is an 'embryo marina.' This will bring pollution problems and traffic hazards..."

Ballard Argus of the Hancock County Property Owners Association said the "residential atmosphere" of the beachfront area must be preserved and what is needed is a marina adjacent to the downtown portion of the city.

Ames offered his comments in the form of several questions directed to Prevou.

He asked Prevou if the northern spit at the end of the jetty would be extended further north and the co-chairman replied, "It will not go out further on that side—it will not go out further elsewhere."

Frank Ladner, Hancock County Gun and Rod Club president, said the group backed the legion project "100 percent."

Regarding mud in the water near the pier, John Wilkerson, legion secretary, stated, "People were getting stuck in the mud long before the legion pier was there."

Laird said trucks were dumping riprap material on the pier in the "middle of the night."

Perniciaro replied that his crews did not work at night.

The attorney noted in reference to noise resulting from people utilizing the pier, "They (nearby residents) have to stay there, you (the proponents) go away to your homes at night."

In reference to odors in the pier area,

Prevou stated, "Back before the 40's when a fish canning factory was located there, owned by the Blaize family, they didn't mind the stink."

An unidentified man reported nearby marsh grass enhances fishing by providing feeding areas for mullet and bait for fishermen.

Paul Montjoy suggested the supervisors and city officials "work together" to stop objectionable activities occurring near the pier area.

LEGION PIER HEARING—Explaining American Legion Post No. 139's proposal to improve facilities at the end of its riprap recreational jetty in Bay St. Louis at a Wednesday night public hearing at the Hancock County Courthouse is Henry Prevou, standing, Legion Pier Committee co-chairman, as an

and commercial fishing activities both as 'possible' causes of the deaths.

However, Bennie Rohr, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service ground fish crews coordinator in Pascagoula, Friday reported their sample netted catches in relatively deep federal waters indicate saltwater catfish moved into the Sound in mid-March.

He said catfish are usually the most abundantly caught saltwater fish and can usually tolerate an influx of fresh water.

Solangi and all the government officials all agree fish kills of this magnitude usually occur in the late summer as the result of sea floor algae growth which depletes the Sound's oxygen content or extensive fishing activity.

Solangi feels if the kill occurred outside Mississippi waters the carcasses washing ashore would be more deteriorated.

He said the bodies of the delicate fish, which Leard feels would be the first to appear, are disintegrating before reaching shore.

When asked why air breathing mammals such as sea turtles and dolphins are also dying, Solangi replied, "What's happening is, when ever environmental stress occurs, the ones first effected are the very young or old."

He said the mammals he observed included very old or young animals which would have difficulty finding food or navigating in the murky waters.

Leard even noted "an inordinate number" of dead sea turtles are washing ashore.

Marine life usually collects aquatic life each spring when these usually abundant fish and animals feed and seek protection in the Sound, but this year their numbers are relatively few, Solangi reported.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER FLOODING

Regarding the affects of the spillway opening, all the officials and Solangi are not yet sure what will happen to aquatic life and especially shellfish in the area.

In addition, heavy rains in the Jackson area may also cause yet another Pearl River flood which would add more fresh water to the Sound.

Bruce A. Sossaman, public affairs officer of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' New Orleans office, Saturday reported 70 of the spillway's 350 flood gates were open and another 40 would be opened that day to prevent flooding downstream.

He was not sure how long the gates would remain open, but said "probably" more would be opened.

Sossaman did not know how the Sound would be effected by the opening, but he said in Louisiana waters, "We rather suspect the adverse impact will be significant for sure this year."

He reported the Mississippi usually floods in New Orleans in April as a result of melting snow upstream and heavy Spring rains have caused the present flood surge.

Sossaman added heavy rains now occurring in the Midwestern states may prolong the flooding.

He said the Corps spillway system "is duplicating nature" by allowing overflows into Lake Pontchartrain.

The floodwater moves into the lake then through Chefmeteur Pass and the Rigolets to Lake Borgne and the Sound.

The Corps official noted openings of all spillway gates in 1973 and 1979 temporarily wiped out oyster crops in Louisiana and Mississippi waters, but "limited" openings result in improved harvests.

Leard reported Mississippi Sound oysters "seem to be recovering" from fresh water influence from the Pearl, but with additional water from the spillway opening, he stated "we don't know" what will occur.

Rohr feels the fresh water will drive shrimp into deep water where many small commercial fishermen will not be able to catch them.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

I can remember the results of a poll taken among my graduating class in high school back in 1976. The utter simplicity of it as well as the almost universal agreement still remain uppermost in my mind.

The question: "What do you want most out of life?" The answer: "To be happy!"

The answer is not a surprising one. It would probably be the same answer whether it were the class of "83" or the class of "47!"

If you were to ask these people what their goals were you would find out that these kind of statements would be the norm.

"I want a job that pays a lot of money!"

"I want to get married as soon as possible and raise a family."

"I want to go to college and enjoy my college years."

"I want to move as far away from here as possible and just be on my own."

Each of these represent normal avenues chosen by our graduating seniors each year in America. Each of these avenues is expected by the one who takes it to lead to the "good life," that is "happiness!"

It is my conviction that a true, close relationship with God is the only source of true, lasting happiness on this earth.

Jesus said in John 17:3, "And this is life eternal, that they should know thee the only true God, and him whom thou didst send, even Jesus Christ."

Notice, I said: true, "lasting" happiness. I am not one of those who thinks that sin could in no way ever be enjoyable. Why even the Hebrew writer said of Moses that he chose to "share ill treatment with the people of God; than to enjoy the 'pleasures of sin' for a season." (Hebrews 11:25). Sin has only temporary pleasures. And yet, "eternal happiness" only comes from the true source, and that is God himself!

Paul said of God, "for in him we live, and move, and have our being" (Acts 17:28).

The question is, "how can anyone find true happiness that last forever, outside of the one who created them, who sustains them, who loves them, who paid the price for their sin, and who will be their judge in the end?"

The answer is that it cannot be done!

Are you a graduate of 1947, 1983 or anywhere in between?

Marriage is good but it is not the answer! Independence is good but it too is not the answer!

Jesus said, "Seek first His kingdom and His righteousness and then (and only then) will all these other things be added unto you!" (paraphrase)

WORD OF GOD

For those who make promises to the Lord

If a man vow a vow unto the Lord, or swear an oath to bind his soul with a bond; he shall not break his word, he shall do according to all that proceedeth out of his mouth.

Numbers 30:2

Do you want true, lasting happiness? The answer is G-O-D!

BRAHMS WORKS

Two more new concerts by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra under the baton of Maestro Carlo Maria Giulini are scheduled for telecast at 9 p.m., Wednesday, June 1 and 8, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

On June 1 the orchestra performs one of Johannes Brahms' most popular works, the Symphony No. 1, in celebration of the composer's 150th birthday this year.
